My stock is limited on some varieties and sizes, but if stock is wanted in sizes not listed, write me, as I no doubt have a few and can supply you. Also, I have small lots of some varieties not listed, some of them are rare varieties. No confusing discounts offered as my low prices do not permit it.

ABOUT THRIPS

Here we have had good results from gassing the bulbs, also from the use of Naphthalene. There is a difference of opinion about Naphthalene; some think it injures the bulbs, others do not, but for the small grower it seems to be the logical thing to use about one ounce to 100 large bulbs. Place a paper over them for a while, then take it off some 3 weeks and if the bulbs have air the flakes will not injure them.

Large owners no doubt will gas where possible. Before you plant your bulbs by all means disinfect them —use one can of commercial lye to twenty or twenty-five gallons of water, soak ten or twelve hours. This is cheap and quite effective, but there are several preparations on the market that may be better but more trouble to use perhaps.

After the glads are up spray with two tablespoons of Paris Green and one and one-half pints of Molasses in three gallons of water or you can use Brown Sugar or Glucose. Spray as often as you can but once a week at least. There are other sprays on the market you can use if you like.

JUST A FEW CULTURAL NOTES

The Gladioli are so easy to grow that they may be planted anywhere so long as they are in the sun—but will not do well in the shade. Don't try it.

Plant any time after the middle of April to the middle of June, in any manner that best suits your plot of ground. Plant from two to five inches deep, the larger the bulb the deeper it should be planted. It stands up better.

Now start the cultivator. The more the soil is kept stirred when not too wet the better it conserves the moisture and your plants will do better.

The Gladioli will take a lot of water at blooming time. If you are in a position to water them at this time, do so. If not they will do fairly well without by keeping the soil well stirred up.

When cutting the flowers keep as many leaves as possible on the plant to mature the bulb. Too low cutting weakens the bulb.

When digging, cut the stalk close to the bulb and dry well. When dried and cleaned, store in cellar away from the furnace. If near the furnace keep a dish of water near them.

The flower of the Gladiolus is the finest for vases for the sick room, hospital, churches, cemetery and decorations of all kinds. Use them freely.

While I make no special claim for my bulbs, every year I receive many fine letters from customers who were pleased with my stock and pleased with the service rendered. We have a large stock and ship orders promptly.

Become a member of the New England Gladiolus Society. It devotes its entire attention to the interests of the Gladiolus and growers of the same over entire country. Annual dues are $2.00.
